For Another Two-Year Term and Normal Regents Transact Other Business

The Board of Regents of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School met in regular quarterly session on the campus on Saturday. All the Regents were present as was also Hon. George Colvin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and ex-officio chairman of the Board. Much important business was transacted. The creation of normal summer schools throughout the district was considered and approved. These summer local normals are for the proper instruction and preparation of teachers for their profession and are necessary because of the increased scholarship and normal training required by the new law elevating the standard of qualification as well as the salaries of all teachers in Kentucky.

The addition to the boys dormitory was found to be about finished and furnished and will be opened for the next term. Young men now rooming out in the city will have first preference to enter the new rooms in the addition. T. J. Coates was unanimously re-elected president for the full term of two years, and E. C. Gentry was likewise re-elected business manager. Both these officers have more than made good and also received the grateful thanks of the entire Board. So much time was necessarily consumed in the consideration and transaction of important questions of business and policy that the election of the members of the faculty was postponed to an adjourned meeting to be held in Richmond on April 23.

PERRY OFFICIAL IS STRONGLY CRITICIZED

An examination of the county offices of Perry county made by State Inspector and Examiner H. E. James showed that B. P. Combs, county clerk, was indebted to the state in the sum of $5,783.52, which amount was collected by James and turned into the state treasury. In his report on the county, filed today with Governor Morrow, Inspector James said: "Mr. Combs spends practically all of his time on his farm in Garrard county. He was far behind in his accounts from the fact of neglect of his official duties. He had failed to make a single report of his mortgage recording tax, which goes to make a good part of his indebtedness. Mr. Combs has settled all accounts due the state up to March 1, 1921, and gave the assurance of making his reports promptly in the future. The office was without a public fund book and during my examination I put one into use."

The department through posters points out to the public that both fire and disease are invited by rubbish piles and that a large part of the fire waste of the country is directly due to untidy conditions. The co-operation of every resident of the state in a general cleanup of the winter's accumulation of papers, old furniture, oily rags, discarded clothing, rubbish and other valueless materials, is urged. Mayors and officials of cities, towns and villages are urged to issue proclamations and efforts are being made to get intensive local campaigns under way.

CHURCH LEAGUE OFF WITH A WHOOP

Double-Header Inaugurates Baseball Season in New League, With Much Interest

(By Associated Press)

A victory for the First Baptist nine over the Methodists and a tied score and game called by darkness with the First Christian Church and the First Presbyterians playing, started off the Richmond Church Base Ball League in fine style Thursday afternoon.

Intermittent showers during the two games, made last game drag out until it was so dark when the last of the double-header was played, that it was agreed to call the game with the score tied. The tie game will be played off Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by agreement of the two teams.

A big crowd was out and both games were hard fought, with rooters making a lot of noise for their favorites. The League really got a splendid send-off and interest is very keen all over town. A meeting is to be held at four o'clock Friday afternoon to take action about uniforms, and other matters, and it is hoped that the schedule for all the games can then be published.

Elmer Deatherage has been unanimously chosen president of the League, and his selection seems to please everyone. He has named Frank Chase and Stone Norman to umpire the play-off game between the First Presbyterians and First Christians Saturday afternoon.

Each of the first games was five innings by agreement and President Deatherage announced that the game Saturday will be only five innings also.

The First Baptists and Methodists played first. Some excellent playing was done by both sides, when it is considered that many of the players of these teams have not played ball for ten or more years. Some of the old-timers showed that they haven't forgotten their former skill.

The Baptists started off with a rush by scoring three runs in the first inning, but the Methodists came alongside in the fourth and fifth innings and out a home run drive by Gentry in the last of the fifth scoring Carter ahead of him, saved the day for the deep water boys.

Both Gentry and Parks twirled nice ball and were given good support. The box score of this game is as follows:

DR. WINNES IS FREED AT HARLAN

Indictment Charging Murder is Dismissed Upon Motion of Commonwealth Attorney

(By Associated Press)

Harlan, April 15.—Declaring it against his conscience to prosecute an innocent man and it is as much his duty to discharge an innocent man as to prosecute a guilty man, Commonwealth Attorney Forrester, in circuit court here this afternoon, dismissed the indictment charging Dr. H. C. Winnes with the murder of Miss Laura Parsons.

An Earlier Story

(By Associated Press)

Harlan, Ky., April 15.—Dr. H. C. Winnes, formerly a state veterinarian, for the second time today will go on trial for his life in the Harlan circuit court. He is charged with the murder of Miss Laura Parsons, a teacher in the Pine Mountain Settlement School last September on a lone trail on Pine Mountain between the school and Dillon, Ky.

Dr. Winnes' first trial started February 22 last and the jury, which stood 11 to 1 for acquittal, was dismissed on February 4. Since that time he has been free on $5,000 bond furnished by his attorneys and friends in Harlan. Dr. Winnes' home is in Cincinnati.

The fight to convict Dr. Winnes has been led by Mrs. Edith Zande, one of the executive heads of the Pine Mountain School Through Women's Club and a few newspapers, funds were raised to pay detectives and to employ A. Floyd Byrd, of Lexington and Jackson, as special prosecutor. Dr. Winnes' friends in Lexington, Ky., Cincinnati, O., and throughout the state have been active in his behalf raising funds to pay for attorneys and to defend him.

Dr. Winnes became involved in the case through a peculiar string of circumstances. The entire evidence at the previous hearing was circumstantial. He had been sent to the school from the office of the state veterinarian in Frankfort to make tuberculosis tests on the cattle at the institution. He arrived at Dillon, Ky., on the same train that Miss Parsons took from her home in Berea, Ky., where she had been to visit her father, Walter Parsons.

When Dr. Winnes arrived at Dillon, it was testified at the first trial, the man who was to have net him and escorted him across the mountain, was unable to go because of illness in his family. Evidence was introduced to show that the school officials had written the state veterinarian that a man would meet the veterinarian sent and escort him across the mountain.

The accused man went into Hump Lewis' store at Dillon and then to the house of the merchant to get a drink of water. It was testified that while in the store, he asked how many cattle were at the school and Miss Parsons, who was present, answered. Learning that she was a teacher at the school and that she did not have a mule—the usual mode of transportation in the mountains—Dr. Winnes offered to hire one for her. She declined, saying that "others have walked across and I can too."

Miss Parsons left Dillon in advance of Dr. Winnes. She walked up the railroad track to the Pine Mountain trail, turned into it and last was seen alive as she passed the fourth inning. Arnold went into the box and Winkler behind the bat and did more good work. Ab Oldham, for the Christians, had a world of speed and had his opponents mostly whiffing for a while. Alf Douglas relieved him in the fifth. The Christians had lead in the scoring throughout the game but Hanger's men got busy and tied 'er up in the fifth by some fast work. The boys began to battle harder than ever and every point was contested. It was getting very dark. The game had been delayed for about 10 minutes right in the middle of it, by a downpour, and so upon agreement of the captains, Umpire George McCoy called to off on account of darkness.

a state convict camp where negroes working on the Pine Mountain road were housed. Her body was found two days later several hundred yards above the convict camp.

The question of difference in time between the departure of Miss Parsons and Dr. Winnes from Dillon figured extensively in the case. It was claimed by the state that Dr. Winnes left only a few minutes behind the woman. The defense claimed that the difference was at least three quarters of an hour and probably longer. Testimony of a number of witnesses was given to show this difference by the defense, while others testified for the state that they saw both Miss Parsons and Dr. Winnes within a short time going along the railroad track.

The defense endeavored to show that convicts at the camp had a chance to commit the crime. The state combatted this theory from every angle and introduced evidence intended to account for the whereabouts of the negroes during the period around noon of the day of the crime, when it is supposed to have been committed. Inmates of the camp and guards testified to seeing Miss Parsons pass. This was the last time she was seen alive except by the slayer.

Sometime later Dr. Winnes passed the camp and finally wound up at the air compressor, where Jerry Reed, a convict, and tender of the compressor, told him he was off the trail and put him on the right one. Dr. Winnes claims he became lost when he reached the point where the trail crosses Pine Mountain road and that he had been told to let him have his head and it would carry him right. The mile, he says, went past the prison camp and up the trail to the air compressor which formerly had been used.

Being put on the right trail, Dr. Winnes went on across the mountain to the school. A number of witnesses said he acted "funny," and an attempt was made by the state to indicate that he was either using drugs or drinking. This was denied by the defense and in evidence introduced to show that his actions were not extraordinary and that he had not been drinking.

Dr. Winnes started the tests of the cattle and during a conversation about the teacher he had seen at Dillon. No one was expected that day, he was told. The next day the question came up again and a searching party started out.

Completing the tests of the cattle, Dr. Winnes went back across the mountain with a number of the searching party. A discussion of the disappearance of the woman Dr. Winnes asked this man "what would they do in the mountains who mistreated a woman?" This question he admitted asking and it was on this that one grey-haired mountaineer refused to vote for acquittal, according to a statement he made after the jury was dismissed.

Dr. Winnes left Dillon and returned to Frankfort. Learning that his name was mentioned as the possible slayer, he returned to Harlan and went to Dillon and over the scene with county officers. He remained in Harlan pending the outcome of the investigation. One grand jury refused to indict him, but a warrant was sworn out against him by State Senator Brock and he was held to the action of the next grand jury by the County Judge. This grand jury indicted him.

S. A. INDIANS KNEW CRUDE SURGERY

(By Associated Press)

New York, April 14.—Prehistoric Indians of South America had crude medicine men who removed splinters of arrow heads and stone bludgeons from wounded warriors by cutting through the skull with knives of stone or obsidian and other simple instruments wrought from copper and bronze. Some times the patient lived; frequently he went to the happy hunting grounds.

These uncomfortable treatments of serious casualties from tribal skirmishes still continue in remote areas of Bolivia. Evidence of this has been gathered by field workers from the American Museum of Natural History.

Of nearly 1,200 skulls collected in South America by the late Dr. Adolph Bandelier for exhibition in the museum, about five per cent has been operated upon. To surgeons the practice is called trephining. It consists of removing a disk or button of bone from the skull with a saw called a trephine.

Complex fracture of the skull with depression of the bone plates must have been common occurrences during the ancient tribal wars when clubs headed with stone and copper along with the slings the "bolo" and the "llini" were offensive weapons, said the reports of the museum's investigators.

A natural procedure, they opined, with victims who survived the skull fractures must have been attempts to remove the splinters of bone that pricked the brain, or to cut out fragments pressing upon it.

Warlike clans fight intermittently even today in the wilds of Bolivia and skull fractures are common. Other head are perforated.

Now and then in the bacchanals and festivals whooped up occasionally with great quantities of intoxicants, the investigators reported. When the laughter and free-for-all quiet down, the medicine men got out their sharp pocket knives and made incisions into the injured skulls of the sufferers, frequently covering the aperture with a gourd. During the operation they scrape around the wound with a chisel.

Modern anesthetics are unknown to the medicine men. They put their patients into insensibility by constant use of the "co-ca" plant. This also is employed for healing purposes, and is commonly applied to wounds, bruises and contusions.

BARRED ROCKS TAKE LEAD IN EGG RACE

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—Eighteen Barred Plymouth Rock hens owned by Mrs. W. O. Kirk, of Daviess county, took the lead for March egg production among the 47 flocks of the state being conducted as demonstrations by the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, in co-operation with the owners, according to a statement made public today by J. Holmes Martin, in charge of the college poultry work. The flock averaged 21.3 eggs per hen for the month and displaced the flock of 166 White Wyandottes owned by Mrs. J. T. Wilson, of Henderson county, which led the list in January and February. Mrs. Wilson's flock, however, continues to lead the 47 in total egg production, from December to April, having averaged 65.9 eggs per hen during that time.

A flock of 83 Rhode Island Reds owned by W. H. Holten, Lewis county, was a close second in egg production for March, the flock averaging 21.2 eggs per hens. Thirty-three White Plymouth Rocks owned by Frank Stapleford was third with an average record of 20.2 eggs per hen for the month. Other flocks in order of their production among the ten highest producing ones for the month were those owned by A. J. Culver, Christian county; Joseph A. Anderson, Kenton county; J. C. Grear, Barren county; Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Henderson county; Mrs. Charles Brentlinger, Jefferson county; John Reid, Daviess county; Oral Meader, Simpson county; Mrs. Eugene Culton, Boyle county. The last two flocks were tied for tenth place.

The first three flocks on the list were the highest producing ones for their breed during March, while Mrs. Culver's flock of 971 Leghorns were the leaders in that breed, averaging 20.1 eggs per hen. This flock was also second in egg production from December until April, having produced an average of 56.7 eggs per hen during that time. Mrs. Wilson's flock of White Wyandottes were the leaders for March in that breed. The leading flock of Brown Leghorns is owned by Layman Jones

Old Man Luck and Jimmy Murphy Are Real Buddies

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—From the delightful hubbub of Los Angeles comes the announcement that Jimmy Murphy, one of the youngest of the prominent gasoline characters, will drive a Duesenberg in the International 500-mile race to be waged over the bricks of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30.

Murphy was fourth last year in a Duesenberg and wants another chance at the fat purse which is hung up each year at the great Indianapolis event. Murphy is a careful, consistent driver and although his car was miles per hour slower than several other mounts in last year's event he was ever in the running, plugging along, nursing the speed and endurance of his car into a first-division position.

The youthful driver learned many of his racing tricks from the world's speed king, Tommy Milton, formerly with Duesenberg, but who is now piloting a Durant Special. And having followed Milton through his racing teens it was not unusual to see him trail to the finish line just a short space behind Milton last May.

Murphy has the distinction of his first winning being a championship race, when he swirled around the boards of the Los Angeles Speedway at the rate of 103.2 miles per hour in a non-stop drive a little more than a year ago. He bested a field of classy drivers and his skill has been a subject of discussion and consideration ever since.

He demonstrated in that race that "Old Man Luck," a valuable companion in racing, was with him, for while attempting to turn an extra lap after getting the checkered flag, he ran out of gasoline and had to walk home from the back stretch.

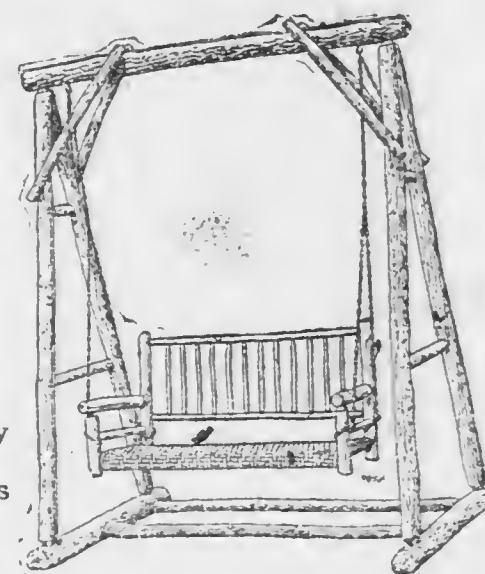

Murphy has a big following in Indianapolis and around every corner for that matter. His genial disposition, determination to win, and a kindly word for all who work with him, make him a favorite.

'Old Hickory'

It is comfortable, it is artistic, it is durable, it is entirely dependable in every way. It is decidedly useful as well as ornamental, and is susceptible to a great variety of uses.

No one has ever been able to improve on "Old Hickory," it is the natural porch furniture, made of the hickory saplings just as they came from the woods. The nearer one can keep to nature the more "homey" the home.

D. A. R. SCHOOL GOES TO FLOYD COUNTY

Decision Reached at Important Meeting in Lexington—Local Chapter Represented

The site for the Kentucky D. A. R. mountain school will be Hueysville, in Floyd county, this place being the voted choice of the delegates present at the called conference, State D. A. R., held Wednesday in Lexington. Mesdames J. G. Bosley and Lewis Neale, of this city, attended the meeting as delegates from Boonesborough Chapter.

The session was in the private dining room of the Phoenix hotel. Mrs. J. M. Arnold, of Covington, the state regent, presiding. With her were Miss Annie Samuels, of Frankfort, State D. A. R. parliamentarian; Mrs. William Rods, state secretary, D. A. R.; Miss Lizzie Grimes, of Paris, state treasurer; Mrs. John A. Herring, of Georgetown, state historian; Mrs. Christopher D. Chenault, chairman of the committee to investigate sites for the school. The State D. A. R. decided at the last regular Kentucky conference to build in the mountains.

At the called conference there were 17 chapters represented and four state officers present, making 29 voting delegates in all.

Rev. Richard Gillespie, of the Maxwell street Presbyterian church, gave an eloquent prayer and the delegates sang two stanzas of "America."

After stating the purpose of the extra session and the plans decided by the State D. A. R. to build a school in the mountains of Kentucky, Mrs. Arnold called upon Mrs. Chenault to give her report of the sites to be considered.

The idea of founding this D. A. R. state school in the mountains was originated by Mrs. Chenault, who for many years has wished that the Kentucky chapters would begin educational work in their mountains to train children in patriotic spirit and knowledge.

Mrs. Chenault began her report by saying that the committee has found difficulty in attempting to crowd into six months what they had expected to do in a year. Her report was a splendid one, giving the sites which had been investigated in Floyd, Lee, Elliott, Menifee and Leslie counties, and telling of the offers made, the generosity of the mountain people, and their appeals and anxiety for the extension of educational work.

Mrs. Chenault had written hundreds of letters and sent out postals as well, and she and her committee had made a very thorough investigation in the short time, the report being extremely interesting. At the close she made two recommendations, one that the school be called the Kentucky D. A. R. Mountain School and the other that all the regents of the state chapters be appointed on the permanent committee for the building of the school after the site had been selected. The motion for the naming of the school was laid on the table and the matter will be decided upon at the regular state conference to be held in Frankfort in October by invitation of the Frankfort chapter and the Susannah Hart Shelby chapter of the state capital.

Mrs. Charlton Alexander, Paris, read the report of the committee who went to Floyd county last autumn to investigate the site which was finally chosen. The offer from there was the new school building, six and one-half acres of land and subscriptions from the people, the land valued at $10,000 and the school at $6,000. Mrs. William Rods presented the appeal of Sandy Hook, in Elliott county, within more easy radius, a needy and poorer county. The matter was finally decided by 14 to 11 votes in favor of Hueysville as the site. It is on a branch railway of the C. & O. and by the postoffice of Bosco.

Mrs. Chenault favored the Lee county offer of 100 acres of fertile land and she hopes for the school to be agricultural and vocational.

Before the closing of the conference Mrs. Victor Dodge announced that the Bryan Station chapter, D. A. R., will nominate at the conference in the fall one of their members, Mrs. William Rods, as state regent.

Among the officers, delegates and visitors for the conference were:

Mrs. J. M. Arnold of Covington, Mrs. John Herring of Georgetown, Miss Annie Samuels of Frankfort, state parliamentarian; Mrs. William Rods, Mrs. Christopher D. Chenault, Mrs. Charlton Alexander of Paris, Mrs. William H. Thompson, Mrs. Stoughton Fletcher, Mrs. Walter Matthews, Mrs. Julia Spurr, Mrs. Victor

Dodge, Mrs. Williams R. Milward, Jr., Mrs. Harrison Gardner Foster, Miss Bessie T. Conkright, Mrs. Charles C. Patrick, Mrs. Maria T. Terrill of Lexington, Mrs. Eugene Ray of Louisville, delegate from the Frankfort chapter; Mrs. Samuel Stone and Mrs. Chester Worthington, Fincastle chapter, Louisville; Mrs. E. B. Smith, regent of Isaac Shelby chapter, Shelbyville; Mrs. John Chenault and Mrs. Hall, John Marshal chapter, Louisville; Mrs. Cecil Farmer, regent of Frankfort chapter, Frankfort; Miss Grimes, Mrs. C. M. Clay and Mrs. Wade Whitley, Paris, Mrs. W. T. Robinson and Mrs. W. A. Ganfield of Danville, Mrs. J. G. Bosley, Richmond, Mrs. John S. Baughman and Mrs. L. L. Rainey of Danville, Mrs. Lewis Neale of Richmond, Miss Rebecca Averill and Mrs. Cammon, Frankfort, Mrs. Shouse of Covington, Mrs. Charles Herndon and Miss Katherine Bradley of Georgetown, Mrs. Moseby of Henderson, Mrs. T. W. L. Van Meter and Mrs. John Keyes of Winchester, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, of Hazard, Mrs. D. E. Weatherford of Covington, Mrs. N. L. Good of Hazard, Mrs. John Felix of Lawrenceburg, Mrs. Robert Wason of Fayette county, Mrs. Wallace of New York, Mrs. Joseph Beard of Lexington.

Mrs. Chenault resigned as chairman of the committee for selecting sites as the duties were completed. Eight hundred dollars in pledges for the school were reported from some of the chapters. There was quite a great deal of confusion and discussion, as the delegates felt that the D. A. R. of the state were entering into a very arduous task and opinions were so divided upon a location.

The room was attractive with decorations of pink carnations and a silk flag.

EXPERT CONDEMNS

JAZZ FURNISHINGS

(By Associated Press)

London, April 13.—"Jazz" furniture, clothing and wall paper were decried by Sir Charles Allen in an address before the first National Furnishing Trades convention here.

"English furniture has ranked so high in the estimation of the world that one wonders how it comes that in it at this moment a disease is developing of the jazz type," he said. "Will the public buy the jazz types of clothing material we see offered for sale, and the far worse things one finds printed and in wall papers in the wholesale stores?"

Jazz of all kinds is like rubbish of all kinds; it is not likely to last long.

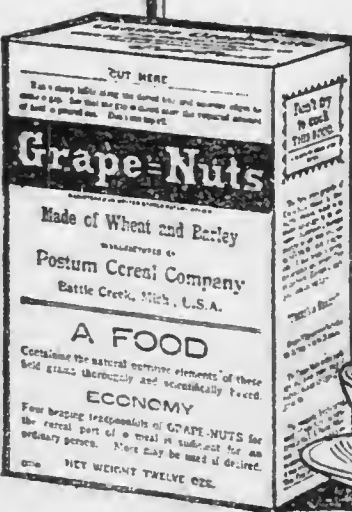

"I have recently been shown great quantities of material of most unharmonious color and crude design," he said. "Things which might suitably be exhibited in a very dark cellar rather than in the light of day or in our homes. I was assured dress-makers were laying them largely. What a home should be like to match such clothing I do not care to think. It makes me devoutly trust that skirts of such materials will be nothing like so long as they are today. The human form will certainly occasionally be better to look upon than these monstrosities. They are products of a dangerously decadent movement."

RED CROSS WORK ROOM TO BE REOPENED

Call for Clothing for Children in Europe to Be Answered by "Greatest Mother"

Due to a call for help from overseas, the Red Cross local workrooms are to be reopened in Richmond just as soon as a suitable place can be secured. Mrs. W. H. Grider, chairman of the local chapter, has received an urgent letter asking that something be done for the children of Europe who are suffering for the bare necessities of clothing as well as food. The Lake Division News says this of the call that has been made:

"The Greatest Mother on Earth" always responsive to the appeals of her suffering children, has heard the cry for clothing which has gone up from the hundreds of thousands of little ones in Central Europe who are walking barefoot and clad only in the meager rags or newspapers.

As this issue of the News goes to press letters are being sent out from Lake Division headquarters mobilizing chapter workers in a great sewing circle to provide garments for the destitute children abroad.

This renewal of production will take place in common with similar steps by other divisions of the Red Cross, the duty which our organization bears toward the great body of helpless children across the seas clearly recognized.

"Every mail brings renewed requests from the Commission of Europe for clothing for the children served by the Child Welfare Units," W. Frank Persons, vice chairman in Charge of Domestic Operations, wrote in urging upon Lake Division the vital importance of organizing for the relief of the desperate needs abroad.

With materials furnished by the Red Cross native women of the destitute countries of Central Europe today are at work in an attempt to meet the distress among their children, but their efforts are in no wise sufficient to solve the problem. The Red Cross, therefore, is putting squarely up to its members throughout the country whether or not chapters shall undertake a production program. In face of the appalling situation overseas it is confidently expected chapters will at once pledge their support and services towards fulfilling the obligation which every representative of the Red Cross who has come in contact with the tragedy of child life in Europe feels so keenly.

The letters received by Mrs. Grider which tells what is urgently needed is as follows:

Cleveland, Ohio, April 12, 1921.
American Red Cross, Madison County Chapter, Richmond, Ky.
Attention Mrs. W. H. Grider, Chairman.

My Dear Mrs. Grider: An urgent call has come from overseas for children's garments.

Miss Clara Noyes and Mr. Ernest Bicknell, who have just returned from Europe, bring to America word of the acute suffering among the children, thousands of whom, born in war time and many of them orphans, have only the most meager rags or newspapers to protect their gaunt little bodies; never having known a shoe or decent article of clothing.

A conservative estimate of the present calendar year of clothing needed for the children who will be reached by the personnel of the Child Welfare Units, new established and to be established by the American Red Cross is as follows:

250,000 babies to be provided with layettes.

250,000 children, 1 to 5 years, to be provided with dresses, petticoats, undershirts, and nightgowns.

125,000 girls, 5 to 14 years, petticoats, dresses, chemises, bloomers and nightgowns.

125,000 boys, 5 to 14 years, undershirts, blouse suits and undershirts.

The chapters in the Lake Division have been asked to contribute 300,000 garments and 38,000 layettes to meet this demand.

Mrs. W. H. Grider was the Director of Production in your chapter and did much excellent work, that we hope we may count on her to act as head of this peace time service and to recruit again the loyal workers who so ably served during the war.

Will you appoint her or some one equally capable to direct this emergency work and ask them to write me at once for patterns, quota, methods of financing the project and for any other information that is not contained in the Lake Division News of March?

Rev. D. H. Willett, A. B., A. M., ThM., of Nicholasville, will speak at the Calvary Baptist church on Saturday, April 16, at 7:30 p. m. His subject will be, "The Sunday School—Its Place in the Church." Rev. Willett is pastor of the First Baptist church of Nicholasville and is one of our strongest young preachers. He is truly a "live wire." His church has more than doubled in its efficiency along all lines in little more than a year of his pastorate. His Sunday School is one of the best in the state. He knows how to "do the job" in Sunday School work. Calvary church counts itself very fortunate in securing Rev. Willett to bring a message in this line. Everyone is cordially invited to hear him.

Calvary Sunday School is growing by leaps and bounds. A membership contest in the form of an automobile race is on now between the classes. Each class is represented by a certain brand of automobile. "The Studebaker," a class taught by Miss Mariah Ramsey, is far in the lead. "The Ford," a class taught by William Royce, is "rambling along" second in the race. Some predict that the "Ford" will win the race, but it will have to go some to run around the "Studebaker." If you are not already enlisted in some Sunday School, you are invited to come over and join in the race. The interest increases every Sunday.—Contributed.

Do This For Constipation

THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "flushes," purges, physics. They gripe and weaken. For lasting effect use a laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a tiny baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with persin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

Tar Heel Farmers Says Its Not-Less Than Wonderful Way Tanlac Has Helped Him

"It's a fact two bottles of Tanlac have done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken in fifteen years," said A. B. Joyner, a well-known farmer of Walnut Cave, N. C. R. F. D. No. 4. "Up to the time I began taking Tanlac I had not been able to eat a square meal in fifteen years without suffering afterwards. At last, after eating I would have an awful stuffed-up, bloated feeling, and at times my breath seemed to be almost cut off. Sometimes I had a feeling just fine."

MYSTIC ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Zangar, world famous mystic, who is appearing all this week at the Alhambra and Opera House, will answer questions for Daily Register readers daily. If you wish your question answered in the Daily Register, write it at home and bring it either to the Alhambra or Opera House and drop it in the Daily Register box in the lobby of the theatre. Zangar will not answer any more questions by mail unless your letter contains a coupon from his book.

IS THERE ANYTHING YOU WANT TO KNOW?

Write to ZANGAR, World Famous Mystic. Ask Him any Question you like. He will answer it FREE!

If you wish your questions answered in the Daily Register, write your question at home on plain white unlined paper as lined or colored paper confuses the mystic. Sign your full name and address, but in answering Zangar only publishes the answer and your initials. Only serious questions will have Zangar's attention. Only a limited number of questions will be answered daily. See if your answer is published today; if not, read the Daily Register tomorrow for same. If any one were in doubt as to the girl he would only have to read the postmarks on Zangar's mail as they come from far and near.

E. L.—I see that in time your desires will be gratified.

M. P.—I see that there is much red tape regarding the settlement and if a compromise is accepted it will be consummated much sooner.

E. L.—I see that you will meet with success.

R. C. B.—Please follow out the above instructions if you desire an answer.

M. G.—I see that you will receive a better offer later.

L. H.—I do not claim to be a mind reader, but I do claim to have studied and applied brains. God gave me power to help others solve their problems, and have been doing it for years quite successfully.

D. N.—I see that you can close them out at a better price than you paid. But why sell?

W. C.—I see that your success depends upon the concentrated effort used in the direction of your ambition.

J. D.—I see that if you will concentrate more fully on your work you will be able to bring about a greater desire for your services. Try it. It does not cost you anything. The person who does not concentrate has to ever struggle for a living and finally fail.

M. B.—I see that it will be a great benefit along with the other. By all means try it.

K. A.—I see that it is in your power to bring it about.

L. A.—I see that it would be best to have some one intercede.

How is Your Complexion?

A woman should grow more beautiful as she grows older and she will with due regard to baths, diet and exercise, and by keeping her liver and bowels in good working order. If you are haggard and yellow, your eyes losing their lustre and whites becoming yellowish, your flesh flabby, it may be due to indigestion or to a sluggish liver. Chamberlain's Tablets correct these disorders.

for you. It would bring about the desired condition sooner.

J. W.—I do not see a move in the near future; I see indecision. W. R.—I see that if you will make up your mind to it the obstacles will only seem as barriers to be cleared away and in a short time you can change your whole career. Why not try?

E. M. S.—I see that if you will make the application stating the facts as you have outlined them to me it will be but a short time before you will be reinstated.

M. Y.—I do not see that it is advisable to make a change at this time.

M. H.—I see that you were advised at the time of purchase that it would not pay for some time. Do not dispose of them.

H. B. C.—I see that if you will suggest to the person that you are agreeable there will be a reconciliation in a very short time.

H. E. W.—I see that if the condition does not materialize very soon it would be better to turn your affections in the other direction.

AT LOCAL THEATRES

To the majority of theatregoers Mae Marsh means the most human portrayals possible in whatever character she is cast. In her first Robertson-Cole special picture "The Little 'Fraid Lady," which will be presented at the local theatres Saturday, John G. Adolfi, Miss Marsh's director, believes she has the most effective role of her career. The dramatic opportunities offered this brilliant young star in the screen version of Marjorie Benton Cooke's novel "The Girl Who Lived in the Woods," according to her director, have more dramatic value than any production in which Miss Marsh has heretofore starred.

As the young artist, disillusioned, world weary and trusting no one except the cherished companionship of her canine pet, "Omar," Miss Marsh is said to give the most brilliant performance of her screen career.

There Are Other Richmond People Similarly Situated

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Richmond residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Geo. O. Parker, carpenter, 339 Moberly avenue, Richmond, says: "I had attacks of kidney complaint that have given me a lot of trouble with sore muscles and back. They came on when my kidneys were out of order. I had dull pains across the small of my back just over the kidneys. I was so lame across my hips that when I bent over I could hardly straighten up and the muscles felt as though they were tied in knots. The lameness in my back was worse in the morning and it bothered me when I stooped to put on my shoes. The change in the weather caused my kidneys to act irregularly. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and I am glad to say they have always relieved me right away."

Grand American Prerogative

The right to choose is the grand American prerogative—the glory of American democracy.

And a most important part of it—the right to choose what you buy—was bestowed upon you by advertising.

Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or motor traction. It is the system whereby a man who has something to sell tells about it to those who do or should use it. For no one can want anything until he knows of its existence.

Advertising is the way by which you are told why you should have certain goods and how to identify those goods. So the advertisements you find in the Daily Register make up a catalogue of needed articles.

Articles of all kinds and for all purposes are presented in a pleasant way through the medium of type and pictures. The outstanding requirements of every member of the family are met by offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements in the Daily Register will help you in the selection of all manner of things.
